Prostitution in Saarland

What's new?

New legislation now requires anyone who works as a sex worker to register with the local authorities and to obtain advice on health issues first. Confirmation of the health consultation will be given, and is to be presented when you register. You must register in person, and this will also be confirmed. You must always carry both certificates with you. If you are unable to provide these certificates, or if they are invalid on presentation, you will be fined.

Who needs to register?

The duty to register applies without exception to all people who provide sexual services in exchange for money.

How long are the certificates valid?

People between the ages of 18 and 21 must extend their registration certificate after one year, and attend a health consultation every six months. For sex workers over the age of 21: The registration is to be extended after two years, the health consultation after one year.

Where do I register?

People who will primarily be active in the Saarland must register with the "Regionalverband", the regional association, in Saarbrücken. If you have already registered in another Federal land, this registration will also be valid in Saarland.
